

CONVICTS ARE AT WORK AS FREE

FORTY FROM JOLIET ARRIVED HERE THIS MORNING FOR WORK AT GRANDY.

OUT ON WORD OF HONOR

Guards Leave Guns and Loaded Canes Behind—Work Will Start at Once.

At 10:14 o'clock this morning a special car brought forty "word of honor" men from the Joliet penitentiary to this city and these forty men were at once taken to the Grand Detour hill in Ogle county, where they will work on the road, the trip from this city to Grand Detour being made in the Sandusky Portland cement company's big auto busses. The special car was attached to the regular Northwestern passenger.

The men, who left Joliet at 5 o'clock this morning in a special electric car for Aurora, were dressed in ordinary working clothes, and at no time while they are in camp near Grand Detour will there be anything about them to indicate that they are prisoners. They will work, walk, talk and act as ordinary citizens.

The men were in charge of T. E. Keegan and Charles Hardy, former guards at the state penal institution, but the guards left their revolvers and loaded canes behind them, and will act solely as caretakers and foremen while here.

Highway Chief to Aid.

Keegan, an experienced road builder, will be manager of the camp. He will be assisted by Highway Commissioner M. F. Harvey of Ogle county.

The convicts will remain there as long as the weather will permit. They will not wear clothes to mark them as felons and on Sundays they will have a change of suits and be allowed to receive visits from relatives and friends. No guards will accompany them and they will be strictly on honor. This is the first work of the kind to be done by convicts east of Colorado. Great interest is being taken in the experiment.

Improve Country Scene.

Gov. Dunne and Warden Allen expect this to be an epoch making event in Illinois prisons. The road to be cut leads out of the historic old town of Grand Detour and is in Ogle county.

The state engineers have mapped out a plan of action which will alter the scenery in that vicinity when they are done. They cut through the hill and a new course will take in a piece of timber, making about a mile of new road. The camp will be at the bottom of a hill owned by W. H. Andrus.

Warden Allen Here.

Warden Allen and Deputy Warden Walsh came over from Joliet this morning in an automobile and were here in advance of the road gang, making final preparations for transporting the convicts to the camp. Several newspaper men and photographers were also in the city to "cover" the story of the first convict road work in the state of Illinois and to get pictures of the camp, the men and the surrounding country.

LEE COUNTY FARM GETS FURTHER MENTION

John P. Honeycutt's Green River stock farm, south of Amoy, which he has made a fertile and productive farm after several years of system and science on a worn-out piece of land, is attracting an extraordinarily large amount of attention and comment from scientific farmers and farm publications. The Prairie Farmer of the current month devotes over a page to an interesting illustrated story of Mr. Honeycutt's accomplishments.

BIGGEST BARN WILL BE BUILT NEAR GENEVA

GENEVA FARMER INTENDS TO PUT UP BIGGEST BARN IN THE WORLD.

Probably the largest farm barn ever built in Illinois or the world is being planned by Albert Peck on his farm southwest of the Geneva city limits, near the Northwestern tracks. Foundations have been finished at a cost of $10,000. They measure 148x148 feet. The barn is to be a combination sheep and cattle barn with storage for hay and grain. There will be no underground basement. The roof, according to the plans being considered, will rest upon a series of upright posts from the center of the building. The main floor will accommodate several wagon loads of hay with teams attached at once and there will also be room to turn with a loaded wagon within the main floor space. The latest mechanical equipment for handling hay, grain and carrying on the work of feeding will be part of the equipment of the new building, it was reported today.

SHERIFF REID WRITES TO SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE ON PROPOSED LAW.

SUGGESTS CHANGES IN LAW

Regulations Would Stop All Hunting in This Section if Enforced.

The following is a copy of the letter Sheriff Reid has sent to the secretary of agriculture relating to the proposed Regulation of Shooting Migratory Birds, mention of which was made in this paper Tuesday:

Dixon, Ill., Sept. 2, 1913.
Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

There has recently come to my hand a pamphlet giving the "Proposed Regulations for the Protection of Migratory Birds," same to become a law Oct. 1, 1913 or whenever approved by the president.

As per regulation 10 of this pamphlet, I wish to give the views of many of our residents. The time being so short we are not able to do this in the manner our position demands, but if brought to your attention it may serve the purpose of arousing you to investigate.

Illinois, as you know, is located in the heart of the great corn belt, and is of such value that every bit of waste land is reclaimed; that is at all possible, thus the great feeding and breeding grounds of migratory birds of fifty years ago are now dry for eight to eleven months out of the twelve, thus for six weeks in the spring, as allowed by our state laws we have some shooting of migratory birds on these wet weather swamps, not any in the fall.

Many birds start to raise their young on these swamps, only to have the swamps dry up shortly after the young are hatched and thousands of them perish in this way, while, if this law comes into effect, it will add many to this list.

At the present time, in the southern part of our state and adjoining states, the wild geese cause wheat growers a great amount of damage, feeding entirely on the green winter wheat fields during the spring; thus you can readily see the loss that would be forced upon our farmers by this law, when they would be deprived of protecting these fields by the gun from the hoard of geese that this law will cause to be forced upon them to be fed. It comes to my mind at this time that the states that prevent spring shooting of ducks now, do not include geese for this reason.

I have been unable, in a hurried glance over this pamphlet, to find what the plan is for enforcing this law, should it become effective, and knowing the feeling of the citizens of a belt across the United States, say of the states lying wholly within the district bounded by the 36th and 44th degree latitudes, as evidenced by their state laws governing shooting of migratory birds, I feel that they will consider it one of the many unjust laws that are now being forced upon them, thus causing them to have a contempt for such law that will make law breakers of many a good citizen and force the federal authorities to place a large additional force of deputy marshals in the field if they intend it to be strictly enforced. If not strictly enforced it is the law abiding citizen who suffers and it is he who we are interested in.

Owing to the land through this strip of the United States lying between latitudes 36 and 44 being in a high state of cultivation, the only feeding, breeding and hunting grounds for ducks and geese in the fall, if this law becomes effective, will be our rivers and lakes and ground adjacent and those are controlled by gun clubs of rich sportsmen, thus this law has the appearance of being a rich man's law and not for the common citizen. It is acknowledged that this law will increase migratory game, but of what use is more game to the common citizen of the territory mentioned if he cannot shoot same when it is possible, and it is not possible in the fall, when the flight of migratory birds goes through in three or four days, owing to conditions above stated; but in the spring, when our reclaimed swamp lands for the time being, it is our common citizen who feeds them for two or four months and sustains the damages caused by them.

COMMISSIONERS LEVY 18,500 TAX FOR ROAD

ANNUAL LEVY UNDER THE NEW TICE LAW WAS MADE YESTERDAY.

PART OF TAX GO TO TO CITY

Approximately One-Fourth of the Amount to Be Spent in This City.

The commissioners of highways of Dixon township, at a meeting held yesterday under the provisions of the new Tice hard roads law, levied the road and bridge tax for this township for the coming year, the amount decided upon being $18,500, which is not as high as the new law gives them the power to levy. The Tice bill empowers commissioners to levy road and bridge tax of 61 cents on every $100 assessed valuation in the township.

The total assessed valuation of property in the township is $1,728,378, while approximately $901,245 of this amount lies within the city of Dixon. Accordingly a substantial part of the $18,500 levy made by the commissioners of highways will revert to the city treasury for expenditure on streets and alleys of the city.

According to the Tice bill, fifty per cent of the tax levy made against property within the city limits shall go into the city treasury for road work within the city. Accordingly, approximately one-quarter of the levy of $18,500 will be turned back into the city funds.

MRS. MAMIE BOWEN

ASKS FOR DIVORCE

Through her attorney, Robert Bracken of Polo, Mrs. Mamie S. Bowman, a resident of Lee county who is now working in that place, has instituted suit for divorce in the Lee county circuit court, charging her husband, Alfred O. Bowman with habitual drunkenness and cruelty. The couple were married in Dixon May 20, 1909, and resided together until Aug. 9 last when, according to the plaintiff's declaration she was compelled to leave their home because of his habits of life.

sible, and it is not possible in the fall, when the flight of migratory birds goes through in three or four days, owing to conditions above stated; but in the spring, when our reclaimed swamp lands for the time being, it is our common citizen who feeds them for two or four months and sustains the damages caused by them.

According to my small knowledge of conditions I believe this law could be improved by changing so that the spring shooting be allowed in the states lying wholly between latitudes 36 and 44 degrees, making the closed season from April 16th to September 1st on waterfowl and May 1st to Sept. 1st on shore birds and rail.

This would leave a considerable portion of the United States as protected breeding ground as those portions not contained within latitudes 36 and 44 have the largest by far amount of unclaimable swamp lands and the natural breeding and feeding grounds, both north and south, of the migratory birds. Thus protected in the northern and southern zones in the spring, these birds will become of such numbers that no danger will ever arise of them becoming extinct, as spring shooting is improving here, in fact becoming as good as twenty years ago, owing to the stopping of spring shooting in some of the northern tier of states, where most of the ducks breed.

Trusting this will cause you to investigate this thoroughly from the standpoint of the common citizen of the section of the United States mentioned and not leave it wholly to some scientific sharp, whose only idea is to increase the number of migratory birds and does not consider who is benefited or who pays the damages, I am

Yours respectfully,
(Signed) C. P. REID.

VOCATIONAL STUDY RECOMMENDED BY EDUCATIONAL BOARD

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR SENDS LETTER DETAILING PLAN

3 COURSES ABOVE 6TH YEAR

Pupils Should Be Allowed To Take Up Either Commercial, Or Industrial

Department of the Interior Bureau of Education, Division of School Administration, Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—Extract from a report of the committee of the board of Education on studies and textbooks, New York City.

June 17, 1913, the board of education of New York City adopted a resolution requesting the board of superintendents to prepare a revision of the course of study for elementary schools in conformity with the recommendations in a report made by the Committee on Studies and Text Books. The following are extracts from that report:

Three Courses Above Sixth Year

It seems desirable at the present time, while adjusting special schools for the mentally backward, to give adequate and fair treatment to those children of average mentality, who, perchance, are only slow, but who because of their very slowness, become the retarded children owing to their inability to keep up with the present curriculum. In considering the problem of readjusting the curriculum we regard the present stopping place where the greatest percentage of elimination occurs as the natural point to begin the development of various differentiated courses. The distribution of children among the vocations indicates definite need for elasticity immediately following the elementary school period.

After due consideration of many conclusions of weight related to the recent discussion on the subject of the length of the elementary school course in years, the following working principle was evolved, namely: The elementary school course should be made up of six years of universal or co-ordinate work and two years of flexible work, providing for such differentiation as is needed to meet the needs of individual children or groups of children.

We believe also that with establishment of flexible differentiated courses of study in the last two grades, in place of the inflexible curriculum, there will probably be an increase in the gross number of graduates from the elementary schools. As a further result, judging from the experience of other cities, the percentage of matriculates to the high schools could be raised, as well as the absolute numbers entering upon secondary school work.

The suggestions made above provide for a course of study throughout the eight years. We emphasize the need for a definite course during the first six years, but suggest that, beginning with the seventh year, the course should separate into three distinct branches. We would establish an academic course leading to the high school, as at present; we would also establish a commercial course and a vocational course.

As a suggestion for the utilization of the tentative flexible course for the 7th and 8th years, we should advise the extension of the educational contents of the various subjects along the lines of commercial and industrial training. To this end, we submit a suggestive outline of the educational possibilities, of such differential courses in the 7th and 8th year.

DITTMAR RETURNS FROM SPRINGFIELD

PECATONICA RIVER WILL BE STOCKED WITH VARIOUS GAME FISH.

STATE WILL HAVE HATCHERY

Many Are After Jobs — Ask President to Take Action Against the Hunters.

Freeport, Sept. 2.—Hon. C. J. Dittmar arrived home from Springfield last evening, after a week's busy session of matters pertaining to the state fish and game commission, of which he is president.

Will Stock With Fish.

Mr. Dittmar stated today that the question of stocking Rock river and tributaries which has been declared a fish preserve, with game fish would probably be done this fall and early winter. It was deemed advisable to seine the sloughs of the Mississippi river and secure the game fish and place them in the creeks and rivers in this section. Mr. Dittmar said the work would be started within a very short time and the Pecatonica river and Yellow creek would be supplied with these fish.

Will Have Hatchery

Mr. Dittmar also stated that for the past three years Illinois has not had a fish hatchery owing to the fact that it was not kept up properly, but that within the coming six months the hatchery would be reopened and the raising of fish started.

Frogs Are Protected.

Mr. Dittmar stated that frogs as well as other water creatures, are protected by law, although it is not universally known. Many people kill frogs for bait and if these people continue the practice out of season they will be taken care of by the commission.

Many After Jobs.

Mr. Dittmar stated that he is receiving applications for positions in his department by every mail and that many people from all over the state have called upon him, asking that he assist in placing them on the state pay roll.

Want Hunters Arrested.

A committee of farmers appeared at the office of Mr. Dittmar today, asking that the commission take immediate steps to arrest certain individuals who have been hunting prairie chickens out of season and who bagged a good supply during the past week.

Mr. Dittmar stated that names of several local people had been handed to him and that the statements, if proven, would mean a heavy fine. The report will be rigidly investigated and it is probable arrests will be made.

Complain of Fishermen.

Complaint was also made to Mr. Dittmar that at the present time there is a great deal of illegal fishing going on along the Pecatonica river. Mr. Dittmar will instruct Deputy Warden Lonergan to take active steps to bring the offenders to justice.

WRECKED AUTO TO SAVE BOY'S LIFE

James G. Wells of Rockford drove his new $1400 automobile into a street car at Freeport Sunday morning to avoid running down a newsboy. The machine was damaged to the extent of $125, but the owner says he is satisfied, for had he struck the lad he would undoubtedly have injured him seriously and possibly would have killed him.

Moline Dispatch: On account of the protracted dry spell this summer Twelfth street has been very dusty, so dusty in fact that property owners in the vicinity of the village of Sears became desperate and decided to wait no longer for aid from J. Pluvius. Someone started the plan for oiling the highway and soon had several neighbors interested. Others fell into line and the result is that nearly twelve blocks has been treated with oil.

But all men, says one of those active in the road improvement plan, may profit by mistakes. And one good roads booster admits that mistakes are made. The work should have been done earlier in the season before the dust became so heavy, or else the road should have been scraped. Less oil would have been required and there would have been a saving in cost.

Most of the oil was shipped from the east at $4.07 a barrel laid down in Milan. Contents of each barrel is made to cover twice as much space by heating, and following this plan an entire block may be treated with less than four barrels of oil. Cost of treating a mile of road, it is estimated, amounts to approximately $200. The plan followed at Sears was for each man entering to purchase two barrels of oil, making the sum individually expended trivial in contrast with the benefits that accrue. The plan next year will be to oil the road earlier in the season.

SLAUGHTER OF CALVES.
According to the year book of Swift & Co. there were slaughtered in 1911, 8,000,000 calves averaging 70 pounds. Had they been allowed to live a year they would have averaged 600 pounds, and would have given the country 4,800,000,000 lbs. of beef instead of 560,000,000 of veal. This, it is estimated, would be sufficient to furnish a city of 350,000 people with its total meat supply for over 50 years. Reducing this to one year basis it would do the same thing for a country of 17,500,000 inhabitants for one year. In other words the young calves slaughtered in 1911 to satisfy the call for veal had they been allowed to live a year, would have furnished sufficient beef for over one-fifth of our population for a year.

THIS IS CERTAIN

THE PROOF THAT DIXON READERS CANNOT DENY

What could furnish stronger evidence of the efficiency of any remedy than the test of time? Thousands of people testify that Doan's Kidney Pills have brought lasting results.

Home endorsement should prove undoubtedly the merit of this remedy. Years ago your friends and neighbors testified to the relief they had derived from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. They now confirm their testimonials. They say time has completed the test.

Mrs. J. Helfrich, R. F. D. No. 4, Dixon, Ill., says: "While I have never taken Doan's Kidney Pills myself, I can strongly recommend them, and I am glad to confirm the public statement one of my family gave in their praise some years ago. For a long time he suffered from irregular action of his kidneys. He also had backache and found relief only when he used Doan's Kidney Pills, that he got at Leake Bros. Co's Drug Store. They stopped the pain and restored his kidneys to a normal condition."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's and take no other.

PUBLIC SALE.

DR. HALE DUE TODAY

PRESIDENT EXPECTS VISIT FROM MEXICO AGENT.

Chief Executive Returns From Short Vacation and Will Discuss Situation With Envoy.

Washington, Sept. 3.—President Wilson, who returned to Washington today from Cornish, N. H., is expected to meet William Bayard Hale, now en route here from a special mission to Mexico for the administration.

Mr. Hale's report of conditions in Mexico since the arrival of John Lind with the peace proposals of the American government will be made directly to the president.

Unofficial reports reached Washington that Mr. Lind, who has been at Vera Cruz since the rejection by the Huerta government of the American proposals, would return to the United States within a few days. No confirmation of this could be procured at the state department. Secretary of State Bryan said with relation to the report, just before leaving for a lecture engagement at York, Pa., he knew nothing of such an intention on Mr. Lind's part.

"I had a message from Mr. Lind," said the secretary, "but it did not concern his movements. As to the Mexican situation, it can be said that matters look encouraging."

Since the departure of the president from Washington the daily characterization of the Mexican situation at the state department has been that it was "unchanged."

Time to Drag a Road.
If the traffic is very light, a good time to drag the road is immediately after a rain. However, for ordinary traffic, the best time to drag is when the mud will not stick to the drag but will slide along the edge, the drag taking a slice of earth of the high places and filling the small depressions.

Long-Distance Telephone Ruling.

The liability for long-distance telephone charges was involved in Southern Railway company vs. Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph company in the supreme court of Tennessee, in which the court held that where a long-distance call is made on a business telephone the operator should require the name of the person calling, and if it is different from that of the subscriber the latter must be conferred with and consent had to a charge against him before such charge is valid. The court accordingly held that an employee of a railroad company who did not have a telephone of his own cannot make the company liable for his personal long-distance calls. The court excepted from this ruling long-distance calls made by members of a family on a family telephone.

ERUPTION ALL OVER CHILD'S BODY

Began With Small Red Spots. Cried Almost Day and Night. Used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. Well in One Week.

R. F. D. No. 2, Jackson, Mo. — "Our daughter who is ten months old was suffering from an eruption all over the body. In the beginning they were small red spots and afterwards turned to bloody sores. We tried all sorts of ointments but they did not procure any relief for our child. She had no rest day or night and we tried everything to procure relief for our baby. She cried almost day and night and we scarcely could touch her, because she was covered with sores from head to foot. We had heard about the Cuticura Soap and Ointment and made a trial with them, and after using the remedies, that is to say, the Soap and the Ointment, only a few days passed and our child could sleep well and after one week she was totally well." (Signed) August P. Bartels, Nov. 25, 1912.

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

REAR CALVES ON SKIM MILK

Some Additional Feed Is Necessary to Replace Fat—Flax Seed and Oil Meal Recommended.

(By G. E. MORTON, Colorado Agricultural College.)

Question: "What should be mixed into separator milk to be fed to calves? I had poor luck with my calves last summer, they seemed to be heavy but didn't grow very much. I always took the froth off as quickly as I finished turning the separator, but didn't mix anything with the milk. How would ground corn and barley mixed, or either of them put into the milk be? And when should calves be put on separator milk, or at what age?"

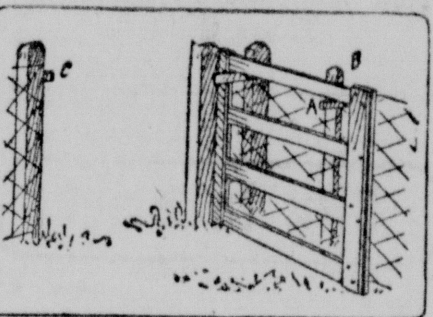

Answer: "Calves need some feed in addition to skim milk, in order to replace the fat which has been taken off the milk. Cook whole flax seed, or flax seed meal, and feed about a double handful at a feed mixed in the milk. If you cannot secure the oil meal or flax seed, use ground corn and oats preferably, or ground corn and barley.

"In raising skim milk calves, you should dilute the whole milk about a week after calving, replacing whole milk with skim milk at the rate of an additional quart each week, so that at six weeks they should be on skim milk without any whole milk."

WAY TO KEEP A GATE TRUE

Trouble Caused by Warping and Sagging Overcome by Hanging Slide Affairs on Boards.

My slide gates gave me a great deal of trouble by warping out of shape until I remedied it by hanging them on short boards, a, when closed, and b, when opened wide, writes

Keeps Gate True.

Joseph Stewart of Missouri in the Independent Farmer. This keeps them always in the same position and they do not warp any more as they did when one end rested on the ground.

Feeding Dairy Cows.

At the Oklahoma station, on a ration of wheat, bran, corn crop, alfalfa hay and roughage the cost of milk per gallon was 11.2 cents. When on a ration similar to the above, with the addition of cottonseed meal, the cost of milk was 10.9 cents per gallon, but the quantity was slightly decreased. In another test the cost of milk production on a ration of barn, corn crop, cottonseed meal and alfalfa hay the cost was 11.7 per gallon. On a similar ration with silage as a supplement, the cost was 10.4 per gallon, and the yield was slightly increased.

Cause of Bowel Troubles.

Bowel troubles in calves are sometimes caused by milk that is excessively rich. Milk that is moderate or low in butter fat is usually better for young calves. Indigestion in older calves is usually due to unclean vessels, close confinement in dark, unsanitary stalls and irregular or excessive feeding. In some cases it appears to be due mainly to sheer weakness and inability to digest.

Moral Is to Conserve Your Steam.

The Sedgewick Pantagraph says it does not know the authorship of this fable: A man who never amounted to much once got a job running the engine of a sawmill. He was greatly impressed with the importance of his position and wanted everyone to know that he was the man who made all the wheels go round. The first morning he steamed up the engine he jerked the whistle wide open and made the welkin ring for miles around, saying to himself, as the echoes bounced over the hills, "I am certainly the big noise in this part of the country." Just then the foreman started the force on a big day's work and discovered that there was not enough steam left to start the machinery. He of the big noise was promptly canned and the job was given to a hobo. Moral: You can't saw wood if you use all the steam blowing your whistle.—Kansas City Star.

Appendicitis Known 30 Years.

As a disease, appendicitis became known about thirty years ago. Since that time it is estimated that fully 200,000 people in this country have undergone surgical operations as a cure.

HOME-MADE COW STANCHIONS

One Shown in Illustration Is Simple in Construction and Will Keep Animals Comfortable.

(By J. W. GRIFFIN)

For the man who is starting his dairy on a small scale, and one who is not able to buy the latest and most up-to-date stanchions, the drawing will explain to him one of the simplest in construction, nearest in appearance, and one that is durable, and will keep the cows in a comfortable position, either standing or laying down.

The lower rails should be of 2x6 inch material, that of the top, 2x4 inch. The uprights all of 2x4 inch. The lower rails should be laid off before they are fastened to the floor. There is two runs of each the top and the bottom rails and the uprights work between them. The entire structure is fastened together with 5-16 inch bolts, 6 1/2 inches long. Bore the holes 15 inches apart in each of the runs, and see that the top holes are directly over the lower ones.

Home-Made Stanchions.

Place the bottom pieces in place, then put in the stationary upright pieces and bolt them fast. Next put on the top rails and bolt fast. Next put a piece of 2x4 as shown at (A), between the top rails and fasten with nails. This piece should be 11 inches long, and when the movable part of the stanchion is in place and the lock (B) is in position, the movable part will be held perfectly stationary until lock is released. The lock is fastened between the top rails with a bolt. It is well to let one of the stationary uprights extend to the upper joist so as to make the complete outfit more rigid. The lower run of rails may be pinned or nailed to the floor. If made on a concrete floor, there should be a row of posts set in place before the concrete is put in, letting the top of the post come level with the floor.

SECRET OF KEEPING BUTTER

Should Be Packed in Clean, Well-Glazed Crocks—Excellent Brine Formula Is Given.

The great secret of keeping butter is to have it good at first and keep it cold.

Pack in clean, well-glazed crocks, glass vessels are preferred which have been scalded two or three times with boiling salt water and then rinsed in ice-cold water.

Pack solid within one inch of the top, then cover with half-inch of fine wet salt, cover with clean muslin cloth, wring out of cold water. Cover with an extra cloth, then thick brown paper, tie tight, and place crocks in leechhouse or cool, dry, well-aired cellar. Icehouse is much the best. The following is an excellent brine to keep butter in:

Water, three pints; salt, one pint; boil it until the scum rises, then add the beaten whites of two eggs and let all boil together, removing the scum carefully, as it rises. Pour over the crock of butter when cold; the brine should cover the butter fully one inch. Cover with muslin cloth and heavy brown paper and store in leechhouse or cold cellar. This brine will keep the butter sweet for one year or more.

DAIRY NOTES

Prepare to help out the short pastures.

Milk separated when cold means that much less cream.

A little buttermilk not worked out turns butter rancid early.

Keep the cans of cream in a tank of cold water until time for delivery.

There is cause for suspicion when a cow is offered for sale these days. Skim the milk as soon after milking as possible, and cool the cream at once.

None of the new fangled churns have yet put the old fashioned barrel churn on the shelf.

Wire strainers get only a part of the dirt. Several thicknesses of cheese cloth are better.

The dairy farm that is stocked to its full capacity, but not overstocked is a pretty safe proposition.

Go to the stockyards on a shipping day and you would find the finest hogs are brought in by the dairymen.

When necessary to mix new milk with that of a former milking, it is best to let the new milk cool first.

Suggestions

That the present syllabus in nature study be withdrawn, that the subject be unified with hygiene, and that the subjects of hygiene and nature study shall also be taught partially in connection with geography with supplementary reading and English.

That grammar, composition, reading, spelling and penmanship be grouped as English work; that attention be given to spelling and penmanship in the class work of all subjects in the course; that a single system of penmanship be taught throughout the school system, with the adoption of a uniform, simple letter type.

That only so much grammar be taught as is incidental to general instruction in English and as may be required to insure the use of correct oral and written English by the pupils.

That considerable time be devoted to reading aloud, particularly of shorter selections, with a wider range of authors than at present.

That oral English be emphasized in every grade.

That general European history be taught in so far as it has a bearing on the development of our own country.

That shop work be introduced during the 5th year.

That the teaching of music be simplified and singing work be emphasized.

That science and foreign language be eliminated from the regular course and be provided for in the plan for optional courses.

PEOPLES COLUMN

PROPOSED AMENDMENT OF THE CHARTER OF ROCK RIVER AS-SEMBLY OF LUTHERANS.

Name: The Rock River Assembly of Lutherans.

Location: Dixon, Lee County, Ill.

Purpose: This institution shall be incorporated for the purpose of maintaining an annual Chautauqua Assembly, at which lectures, entertainments and exhibitions are given; to conduct religious service and provide for the worship of God according to the Christian faith; to conduct schools for the physical, mental and spiritual education and training of young and old of both sexes; to publish bulletins, periodicals and other literature; to conduct hotels, eating houses and provide lodging and supplies for the care and comfort of its members and patrons; to acquire and hold real estate and personal property; to issue diplomas and confer degrees, and to perform such other functions as are common to a religious and educational institution which shall be conducted without profit to its stockholders or members.

Suggested by L. A. Beard, Polo, Illinois.

CONSTABLES ARE ALSO
DEPUTY GAME WARDENS

One of the good features of the new fish and game law is that all constables shall be ex-officio special deputy wardens who shall receive no salary, per diem or expenses as such but will receive in addition to fees and mileage one-half of all the fines recovered for violation of the law in cases where they have filed the complaint. As the fines under the law are high it is now an inducement for them to arrest all violators of the statute.

Mrs. A. C. Dodson and daughter Pauline of Chicago arrived today for a few days' visit with Miss Amy Sickels.

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for the kindness extended us during the sickness and death of our husband and father.

Mrs. G. M. Barnes and Family.

Flag of Penobscot Indians.

While all the tribes of American aborigines have not a national emblem, quite a few have, and the Penobscot flag is one of the most beautiful. It consists of a pure white background, on which is a red pyramid surmounted by a red cross. At each point of the cross is a star of the same color. The idea and form of the flag were given to the tribe several hundred years ago by the Jesuit missionaries, who were the first white men to visit the Penobscots. It has a religious significance and it is used on festive and ceremonial occasions.

WILL GO EAST AND MAY PURCHASE FARM

Scott J. Lowry of near Grand Detour, accompanied by Will Young of Dixon and Mrs. Lou Franks of Chicago, will leave tomorrow for an extended eastern trip, taking in a number of the eastern states, but New York state will be the main objective point. Mr. Lowry will inspect many of the farms in New York with a view to purchasing, and if a satisfactory deal is consummated he will move with his family to that section of the country. Mrs. Franks will go to visit an aged aunt in Pennsylvania, whom she has never seen, while Mr. Young will visit his boyhood home in Pennsylvania. The party will visit Niagara Falls, New York City and other eastern cities enroute.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 3.—Twenty-six persons were killed and nearly fifty injured, some of whom may die, in a rear-end collision on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad six miles north of this city.

The first section of the White Mountain express, bound for New York, speeding along at probably forty miles an hour, in a thick fog, rushed by a danger signal, it is said, and crashed into the rear of the second section of the Bar Harbor express, standing 100 feet beyond the block signal.

The White Mountain engine cleaved through the two rear Pullman cars, both of wood, splitting them in two and tossing their wreckage and three score of mangled human beings, some alive, some dead, on either side of the track.

Howard Elliott, the newly elected head of the road, who was returning from his summer home in New Hampshire to assume his duties, passed over the scene of the wreck on an earlier train, less than an hour before. Chief Inspector Belknap of the commerce commission wired the road officials not to burn the debris. This order was violated, as the wreckage was set on fire at night.

The New Haven officials were frank to admit that the so-called "banjo" signal system, which on this part of the line has not yet been replaced by the semaphore system recommended by the public utilities commission last December, was in a measure responsible for the wreck.

Died at hospital: Philo Hotchkiss, New Haven. George T. Korga, New York. Mary Jane —, residence unknown. Harry K. Inar, New York.

Probe by Commerce Body. Washington, Sept. 3.—Upon the receipt of news of the New Haven wreck, Chief Inspector H. K. Belknap of the interstate commerce commission left for Wallingford to direct an investigation. Telegrams were sent by the commission to field inspectors, directing them to report at once at Wallingford to assist in making the inquiry.

Representative Britten of Illinois in a resolution setting forth that a total of 429 persons had been killed or injured in fourteen wrecks during the last two years on the New Haven system, proposed that the interstate commerce commission be directed to make an immediate and thorough investigation as to the cause of the latest accident. The resolution would direct that the commission report its findings to congress with recommendations for remedial legislation. The preamble declared that the casualties indicated extreme negligence on the part of the traffic managers and officers of the railroad, obsolete, unsafe and inadequate equipment, or that the "desire for dividends is paramount to the proper protection of the traveling public."

THAW VERDICT NEAR

Judge Reserves Decision on Habeas Corpus Writ.

Court Hears Arguments—Emissary of Premier of Quebec Urges No More Delay in Case.

Sherbrooke, Que., Sept. 3.—Harry K. Thaw won another delay in his fight against return to the Matteawan asylum, and he is back in his cell at the Sherbrooke jail.

There he will remain until Superior Judge Matthew Hutchinson renders his decision on the question of sustaining or dismissing the habeas corpus writ, arguments on which were heard in chambers. The decision may come on Thursday.

Unless money is forthcoming immediately, Thaw cannot continue his legal battle in Canada, according to one of his lawyers. This lawyer denied that large retainers had been paid to any of the prisoner's lawyers. George Lauder Carnegie and his wife, a sister of the prisoner, remained here only a day, bringing, it is said, no financial aid, while there is a report current that Thaw has been deserted by his kindred.

Thaw cannot attempt to test the immigration laws by taking his case to the privy council in England unless thousands of dollars are forthcoming.

Alme Goeffrion of Quebec, a special emissary from the attorney general and premier of the province, Sir Lomer Gouin, said the attorney general was insistent there be no more delay in the case and, the habeas corpus writ failing, other steps would be taken to insure Thaw's release and seizure by the immigration authorities. This would mean the start of the return trip to the asylum on the Hudson.

"I do not know," he said, "whether Thaw will be deported. I do not care. But our provincial jails cannot be used as a boarding house or as a place to escape the immigration laws."

"Was there anything said about marriage before March 17?" the girl was asked. The elopement took place March 10.

"No," was the answer. "The day before we left Mr. Caminetti said his wife would start action for divorce at once and then we could be married."

BANKERS PROTEST ON CURRENCY BILL

Forgan and Others Tell Senators of Faults in Owen-Glass Measure.

POLITICAL POWER IS FEARED

Single Reserve House, Instead of One in Each of Districts, Sought—Sol Wexler Says It Would Give U. S. Leadership.

Washington, Sept. 3.—A demand for the modification of the administration's banking and currency bill was voiced before the senate banking and currency committee by a committee appointed by the bankers' conference at Chicago. The seven men comprising the bankers' committee—James B. Forgan and George M. Reynolds of Chicago, Festus J. Wade of St. Louis, Joseph Chapman of Minneapolis, Sol Wexler of New Orleans, and E. J. Hill of Connecticut—appeared before the senate committee as the representatives of their banks rather than as the spokesmen of the 25,000 institutions which today form the banking system of the United States.

Sol Wexler, president of the Whitney Central National bank of New Orleans, ended the day's testimony by explaining the bankers' insistence that the participation in the proposed federal reserve banks must be made voluntary instead of compulsory upon the national banks, and that the subscription should be reduced from 20 to 10 per cent. of the bank's capital.

U. S. Ahead of World.

In emphasizing Mr. Forgan's plea for a single central reserve bank, Mr. Wexler declared such a course would put the United States easily at the head of the banking powers of the world.

"If we get all our reserves into one central bank," he declared, "we will be the largest banking power in the world and we will have the greatest gold reserve of any institution on earth."

Senator O'Gorman also took occasion to emphasize Mr. Forgan's statements by answering a question put to Mr. Forgan by Senator Pomerene of Ohio, Democrat.

"I would like to have you point out the real difference," asked the Ohio senator, "between one central bank under one board and twelve regional banks under the same board."

"In the first place," began Mr. Forgan, "it is a question of reserves."

"Isn't this the big difference," interrupted Senator O'Gorman, "that if you have twelve reserve associations, as contemplated in the bill, you have twelve separate and distinct organizations, and, while they are under the direction of one board, the officers in the several organizations will have special interests in their own localities to look after. While they will have to submit to a central board, they may do so under protest. While if you have but a single central organization, there would be no local interests to consult and the board would merely give orders to be obeyed."

"That is it," declared Mr. Forgan. "I wish I could put it as well as that."

Prefer Single Central Bank. "Would the bankers prefer a single central bank even with government control?" asked Senator O'Gorman.

"We would," replied the Chicagoan, while Mr. Wexler added: "We do not object to government control; all we ask is minority representation on the central board."

The bankers were highly pleased by their reception at the hands of the committee and feel the hearings will prove of great value. President George M. Reynolds of the Continental and Commercial National bank of Chicago arrived with Mr. Forgan. He will lay the question of lowering the reserve requirements in the proposed measure before the committee.

BIG SUM GIVEN REFUGEES

Washington, Sept. 3.—Elimination of the commerce court, an appropriation of $100,000 for the relief of American refugees in Mexico and $300,000 to start the interstate commerce commission's physical valuation of railroads featured the general deficiency appropriation bill reported to the house by the appropriations committee.

The bill carries a total of $3,784,279. The various executive departments asked $9,923,407. Debate on the bill will occupy most of this week in the house.

KING TO FREE ASSASSIN

Alfonso to Pardon Man Who Shot at Him.

Madrid, Sept. 3.—King Alfonso, conferring with the premier, Count Romanones, insisted that the government, which has now under consideration the case of Rafael Sanchez Allegro, an anarchist, should propose to the king to pardon him. Allegro attempted to assassinate King Alfonso on April 13. He fired three shots at the king, but failed to injure him.

HUERTA OFFICER INSULTS CONSUL

U. S. Agent at Torreon, Not Recognized by Commander of Federals.

SIX AMERICANS ARE SLAIN

Official Ousted From Commander's Office While Seeking Facts Concerning Their Deaths—Victims Sympathized With "Rebels."

Eagle Pass, Tex., Sept. 1.—The verification of the report that six Americans were murdered by order of General Bravo because they sympathized with the revolutionary cause was brought to the Carranzista headquarters in Piedras Negras by secret service agents, who arrived from Torreon. Not only was all information concerning the identity concealed by General Bravo, but he ordered Consul Agent Carothers out of his office when the latter attempted to obtain details. U. S. Consul Has No Standing.

The federal officer is quoted as saying that the American representative had no standing because of the non-recognition of the Huerta government, and that they intended to shoot natives or foreigners who were friendly to the Carranzistas.

The envoys assert that the consul was unable to notify his government of the rebuff, owing to the siege maintained by the revolutionists.

Reports received at the headquarters coincident with the story told by the Chism brothers upon their arrival and the known facts will be telegraphed to Washington by Consul Blocker.

Rally to Huerta. Mexico City, Sept. 1.—A wave of patriotism appears to be sweeping over Mexico, and from many states and from all classes, it is announced, assurances of allegiance and offers of service are being received daily by President Huerta and his minister of war.

Plans are being made for as large a display as possible of military strength on September 16, Independence day, when it is proposed to hold a big parade, in which 20,000 are expected to march.

The war department has been called upon to furnish military instructors to a dozen cities, where the fear of being imposed for service against the revolutionists has given away before patriotic ardor. Thousands of all ages are asking to be drilled in the use of arms.

Nor is the aid afforded the government confined to offers to serve in the ranks. A delegation of planters from the state of Morelos has waited upon the president and tendered a subscription of 3,000,000 pesos, or about $1,400,000.

Explain Army Shift. Ministers Gamboa and Urrutia, of foreign affairs and the interior, respectively, issued denials of the declaration from the war department concerning the shifting of army division headquarters from interior points to the coasts and frontier. It is now explained that if these shifts are made it will be solely for the purpose of guarding against rebel operations.

Followers of Gen. Felix Diaz expect him to return to Mexico City not later than October 4 to push his campaign for the presidency.

The excitement among American residents over President Wilson's warning subsided to a large degree over Sunday.

Washington Is Calm. Washington, Sept. 1.—Again a Sabbath calm brooded over this end of the Mexican situation, and the Wilson administration expects Labor day holiday to be similarly pacific.

Secretary of State Bryan returned from his chautauqua outing and dropped in at the state department long enough to bundle up a package of documents and to take them home for perusal. He declared there had been nothing to change the situation.

Officials here declined to discuss the Mexico City report that President Huerta is mobilizing his army against our borders and along the sea coast.

Fear Diaz Candidacy. One thing that is causing worry among the administration leaders here is the announcement of Gen. Felix Diaz that he is a candidate for the presidency of Mexico. Diaz would be little improvement over Huerta, in the eyes of the administration. He figured even more prominently than did Huerta in the conspiracy against President Madero and is felt here to be hostile to the United States.

A few messages were received here from the embassy at Mexico City relating to routine developments, such as supplying Americans with means to leave Mexico, and a brief message came from the special American envoy, John Lind, at Vera Cruz.

Mr. Lind, it was reasserted, would remain in Vera Cruz today, at least, so far as administration officials here had any knowledge of his plans.

Wisconsin Lawyer Is Dead. Janesville, Wis., Sept. 1.—Alfred A. Jackson, former president of the Wisconsin Bar association and chairman of the state board of law examiners, died here, at the age of eighty-two.

Marathon Swim to Godbody. Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 1.—Robert Godbody of Memphis won the annual ten-mile Marathon swim in one hour and thirty-seven minutes here.

DESTROYING WEEDS IN WALKS

There Are Number of Excellent Chemicals or Sprays Which Can Be Used With Good Success.

(By JULIUS EIDMAN, Colorado Agricultural College.)

It is rather a tedious process and hard on tools to remove weeds or grass from walks by hoeing or cutting them out between the stones, but there are a number of chemicals or sprays which can be used with good success.

1. Salt—Take 1 pound of salt to 1 gallon of water; boil and apply while still hot; or dry salt may be used and then watered in, but this will color the walk more or less, and is not quite so effective.

2. Crude carbolic acid, ½ ounce of the liquid to 1 gallon of water, will also destroy ants.

3. Sulphuric acid, 4-5 ounce of the acid to 1 gallon of water. Best applied with a wooden pail.

4. Take 1 pound of powdered arsenic to 3 gallons of cold water; boil and stir well. Then 7 gallons of cold water with 2 pounds of sal soda.

5. Lime and sulphur, 10 gallons of water, 20 pounds of quicklime and 2 pounds of flowers of sulphur are boiled in iron vessel. After settling, the clear part is dipped off and used when needed.

There are also a number of commercial weed killers in the market which can be bought at seed stores. Application of weed destroyers should best be made on a hot day or night after a rain, with watering pot (sprinkler), and one good application is usually sufficient for the season. As most of them contain poison, either arsenic or acids, great care should be exercised in handling them.

PLANTS WANTED FOR WINTER

Seeds of the Primrose May Be Planted in Shallow Pots or Pans Filled With Leaf-Mold.

Make cuttings this month of all kinds of plants wanted for winter blooming, but do not allow the young

Procure a shallow pot or pan with good drainage and fill it with fine leaf-mold and good garden soil and press flat. On this surface sprinkle the seeds of the primrose. Sift a dusting of soil and cover with a piece of glass. Set at the edge of the sunlight, but not in the direct rays. Water by setting the pot in a pan of water.

Cyclamen seeds should be sown during August and September in shallow boxes or pots. They prefer light, sandy soil and gentle heat. The seed is slow to germinate and when the seedlings are large enough to handle, they should be removed to similar boxes and the next shift is to pots. Place in a bright spot, but away from the sunshine.

The old-fashioned Madonna lily (Lilium candidum), which is often seen in rural districts, is one of the most beautiful and chaste lilies we have. It grows two or three feet high, and its sweet flowers grow in clusters.

Lily buds must be dug two feet deep, well drained and made light with some leaf mold, or adding muck or sand.

GENERAL FARM NOTES

Dairy farming is the best soil fertility insurance.

There is no prospect of overstocking the dairy cow market.

Skim milk, if fed in normal quantities, will not cause bloat in calves.

Plans are worthless unless they are properly carried out after they are made.

The time to ship poultry is when the demand is good and the market is steady.

The big, clumsy horse is the fellow that suffers from the heat most as a general rule.

Study to feed a balanced ration. Do not overlook the mineral value of each feed, especially for young stock.

Some form of power is necessary on the farm and nothing is more practical or convenient in the vast majority of cases than the gasoline engine.

Thrives on Sea Water.

William Ireton, a New Jersey man of eighty, who looks as hale as many men of forty, says he lays it all to a habit he has of drinking a pint of sea water every morning as a tonic. Ordinarily salt water is not sufficient, for there are other minerals in sea water besides common salt. The explanation given by the scientists of the tonic effects of sea water on the human system is that man developed through long ages from what was originally an aquatic existence. The fact that man can not live long without salt seems to bear out this theory of his marine origin. In the artificial mode of life which is now prevalent some of the elements which the system craves are wanting. A good course of the genuine old original brand of sea water seems to tone up the bodily processes by supplying the missing elements.—Pathfinder.

Devout Peppy.

Once Peppy goes to Hackney church, "chiefly," as he says, "to see the young ladies of the schools, whereof there is great store, and very pretty." And on another Sunday, "After dinner I did by water alone to Westminster to the parish church, and there did entertain myself with my perspective glass up and down the church, by which I had great pleasure of seeing and gazing at a great many fine women; and what with that, and sleeping, I passed away the time till the sermon was done." And again, on a Sunday afternoon, to the same church, "thinking to see Betty Mitchell; and did stay an hour in the crowd thinking by the end of a nose that I saw, that it had been her; but at last the head was turned towards me, and it was her mother, which vexed me."—George Hodges, in Atlantic Monthly.

Remembered Thrifty Teachings.

A woman who was left to the task of bringing up two small children began early to train them to consider necessities above all else. They could always look back to a home brimming with comfort, although the furnishings were simple enough. They had warm clothing in winter and thin clothing in summer, and as they associated with the children of wealth they must have been thoroughly presentable. Habits are strong, but sometimes they can be broken. The son was the first to go out into the big world and he easily learned new ways of spending. The daughter preserved her sensible, thrifty ways to the last and she is dishing them into children of her own by teaching the value of a bank book in addition to what she learned in her own childhood.

No Place for Poor, Good Girl.

"Where can the genteel poor girl who finds herself in New York without friends get a room for a few days while she is seeking a permanent location?" This question was asked by Miss Kathleen Clayburn Comegys, daughter of a former district attorney of New Orleans, and who has made a study of social conditions in New Orleans. In answering her question she said: "There is not a real place for such a young girl in this entire city, which practically has every other modern convenience and improvement one could wish for. There are places for servant girls and girls who have gone wrong, but there is no place for the girl of extremely meager circumstances who belongs to neither class."

Real Diplomacy.

In the silk department a woman was in great agitation. She had bought a 35-cent remnant, found she couldn't use it and wanted it taken back. She was in fear and trembling, and ready to get much excited if they wouldn't let her do it. "You wonder why we exchanged that?" asked the buyer. "True, we may not be able to sell it again, for she's had it a week, but if we didn't she might never come in the store again. Some are so easily offended. Didn't you see how pleased she was? She might give us a big order now. Yes, women are queer. Some day I'm going to write a book about 'em.'"

Glorious Work.

Miss Jane Addams, Chicago's famous social worker, said the other day of work: "Work is laudable, but don't forget, when you praise it, that there's such a thing as overwork. I once heard a young man reply to a capitalist's praise of work like this: 'My landlady rises every morning at 4:10, winter and summer. She washes all day, besides cooking three meals for a large family. In the evening she washes dishes, then she irons till ten. At 11 she goes to bed. She looks sixty-five, and in reality she's thirty. This shows what work will do for you.'"

Day of Sailing Ship Ended.

Apparently, the foreign type sailing ship has practically disappeared for good from international trade in the Pacific ocean. The Hong Kong harbor statistics for 1912 return just one sailing ship entered for that year—the sole survivor of the great clipper ship trade of half a century and more ago. This lone ship, the large four-master Comet of the Standard Oil company, was the last of a considerable fleet employed in the oil trade between the east coast of the United States and Hong Kong.

Searchlights for Airships.

Searchlights for airships are being tested in Germany. A dispatch from Berlin states that a naval airship which is to take part in the spring maneuvers will be fitted with a 40,000-candle-power searchlight, capable of illuminating the surface of the sea from a height of 5,000 feet.

PLAN TO PACIFY INSURGENTS

Democratic Caucus Will Yield to Demand Made on Them for Heavier Tax on Large Incomes.

Washington, Sept. 1.—Plans are under way for the opening of the currency reform battle in the senate at an early date.

While consideration of the new bill has not yet started in the house, the senate committee on banking and currency will begin hearings this week, with representatives of the American Bankers' association as witnesses. Bankers who joined in the recent conference in Chicago and who adopted resolutions demanding many changes in the currency bill are to be heard at length.

Changes Are Planned.

The senate leaders expect to support the bill now before the house. In its essential details, but some changes are likely to be made in certain features of the measure. None of these changes, it is claimed, will affect the vital principles of the bill.

House leaders expect consideration of the currency reform measure to begin late in the week. The bill as recently approved by the Democratic house caucus will be laid before the house as the administration measure and with the endorsement of the Democratic house membership. While ample time will be given for debate house leaders hope its passage will be accomplished within a short time.

Final Hearing Scheduled.

The burst of Democratic insurgency which lifted the tariff revision struggle out of the routine channels in the senate last week is to have its final hearing in a caucus of senate Democrats to be held late today or Tuesday. The Democratic members of the finance committee, who have undertaken to reconcile the difference in the party ranks and devise compromise income tax provisions to meet the demands of the "insurgents," worked throughout the day over those and other features of the tariff bill, and will be ready to report to the caucus by tonight.

As a result of the fight led by Senators Reed, Vandaman, Thompson, Ashurst and others of the so-called "insurgent" forces, the bill will be revised as to its income tax provisions.

Tax Increase Expected.

It is expected that the caucus will adopt a rate graduated up to five per cent. "additional tax" on incomes above $100,000, with graduation from that figure up to seven per cent. on those above $500,000. As this latter tax would touch only a few incomes in this country, many of the insurgents insist upon a greater increase after the $100,000 figure is reached, so that the tax would be ten per cent., or even more, above $500,000. To this "additional tax" would be added the regular "normal tax" of one per cent. The income tax fight is the last big contest before the final passage of the tariff bill.

FROM THE PINEAPPLE

SUCCULENT FRUIT THE BASIS OF MANY DELICIOUS DISHES.

May Be Utilized in Preparations for Immediate Use or for Preserves That Will Be Welcome in the Winter.

The pineapple should be joyfully welcomed, for it is cheap, has good keeping qualities and a clean, delicious flavor. Here are some good pineapple dishes, as given by the Delineator:

Pineapple Omelet.—Beat three eggs thoroughly with a tablespoonful of sugar, adding at the last a pinch of salt and a teaspoonful each of lemon and pineapple juice. Have the omelet pan hot and well greased, sides and bottom, with a teaspoonful of melted butter or oil. Turn in the beaten eggs, and as they cook, break the omelet once in a while with a silver fork. When still moist, sprinkle on top half of the oatmeal, a cupful of chopped or grated pineapple, canned or fresh, fold over the other half, sprinkle with sugar and serve immediately.

Pineapple Sirup.—Slice, peel and dice enough pineapple to make about three pounds. Place in preserving kettle with a pound of sugar and a quart of water and cook until very soft. Mash and strain. Return to the kettle, and to each pint of juice allow a pound of sugar. Cook to a rich sirup and bottle while hot. Use patent stoppers or sealing wax to make airtight. This will be ready for use at any time for sauces or cooling drinks.

Pineapple Sauce for Ice Cream.—Put a cupful of fresh pineapple juice in a saucepan with a cupful of granulated sugar and cook ten minutes. Add the beaten yolks of two eggs, and whip with an egg-beater over boiling water until foamy. Take from the fire, add the whipped whites of eggs and serve hot with ice cream. If the pineapple sirup is used, omit the SUGAR.

Preserved Pineapple Uncooked.—If one has a good cold cellar or storeroom the fresh pineapple may be grated and preserved uncooked. Allow a pound of sugar to each pound of grated fruit and let stand in the refrigerator for twelve hours. Then pack into sterilized jars, screw tight, and as an additional precaution cover the top with sterilized cotton batting and tie down firmly. Keep in a cold, dark place.

Pineapple Jelly.—Pineapple jelly is worth while preparing for winter use. To make it, pare ripe pines and grate them and to each cupful of grated pulp measure out a cupful of sugar. Add half the sugar to the fruit and let it stand in a covered earthen dish for three hours. Then boil it, very slowly, in a granite or porcelain saucepan until the pulp is soft. Do not use tin, as the pineapple juice sometimes injures the surface of this metal. Let the pulp drip through a jelly bag over night. The next day heat the rest of the sugar on shallow platters in the oven, and in the meantime boil for 15 minutes the juice which has dripped through the jelly bag. Then add the hot sugar, let it melt in the liquid, but do not let it boil any longer, and pour it into glasses.

Before Mayonnaise.

In the days before the art of mayonnaise dressing was known to every good cook the English had a very fair substitute for it which they used with their salads. It was called "an artful mixture," and doubtless as much ingenuity was used in its mixing as the modern cook uses in making mayonnaise. It consisted of mustard, oil and vinegar, "artfully" mixed to a smooth dressing. At her discretion the cook might add the hard-boiled yolks of new-laid eggs, if before adding them she carefully rubbed them to a powder. The recipe, though somewhat vague, suggests a dressing with claims of attention to the lover of good salads.

Hard Sauce.

A good hard sauce for any pudding is made with half a cupful of butter, beaten to a cream and thickened with a cupful of powdered sugar. Whip an egg white, light and stiff, season it with a grain or two of salt, and a good deal of nutmeg and fold it lightly into the butter and sugar.

Remedy for Lumpy Salt.

There is nothing better than rice for keeping salt from packing in the shakers and refusing to come out. Heat a teaspoonful of the rice and put it into the shaker. It will absorb the moisture, and the salt will come out dry as the sands of the desert, and the rice will keep it moving when shaken.

To Whiten Clothes.

White clothes that have become yellow may be whitened in the following simple manner: After washing them in the usual way, lay them to soak over night in clear water into which a teaspoonful of cream of tartar to a quart of water has been put. When ironed they are as white as snow.

Potato Soup.

Heat one pint or more of milk. Put through vegetable squeezer any potato left from dinner. Stir into milk until of proper thickness. Bring to a boil and season with pepper, salt and onion juice. Nice for supper on a cool evening.

Dressing for Cold Slaw.

Two tablespoons whipped cream, two tablespoons vinegar and one tablespoon of sugar. Delicious on lettuce as well as cold slaw.

BETTER THAN GREAT FORTUNE

Knowledge That One Always Played the Game Fairly Is a Comforting Thing to Have.

A contributor to the American Magazine says:

"When you get up in the morning take a look in the glass. How do you look to yourself?"

"If you can look yourself right in the eye and not be ashamed of anything you've done, you are far better off than many a man with lots more money than you."

"Of course, it is nice to be successful, to have money. No matter what the game is—whether it's marbles or business—it is nicer to win than to lose. Success brings happiness, but it must be real success. If you've cheated to win, you've destroyed the pleasure. There is no satisfaction in being ahead of the other fellow if down in your heart of hearts you know he is rightfully entitled to be ahead of you. "Win if you can win fairly. The knowledge that there isn't a page in your past to which you dare not turn, that there isn't a man in the world can put his finger on any crooked thing you've done, the feeling that whatever happens you have played the game straight, is worth more than all the money and all the power and all the position in the world."

"If you are in business, no matter what the other fellow does, be content with smaller profits and a square deal. Clean money pays best. Crooked dividends bring wrinkles and worries with them."

"A good test of a business is what you are going to think of yourself afterward."

He swam unhurt to the shore, just missing death by a few yards, for had he not sprung from his seat when within 50 feet of the lake he would have been dashed to pieces on the rocks.

Several instances of people falling from incredible heights and surviving to tell the tale can be quoted. At Brighton quite recently an actor known as Lieutenant Darling, who was playing the part of a naval officer who is attacked by brigands in a cinematograph play, and who was supposed to slip over the cliff—in reality, however, to stand on a plank which had been placed below the edge to make the illusion complete—missed his footing and fell 90 feet below into the sea, escaping with a sprained wrist.

An even more miraculous escape after a fall over a cliff was that of a seven-year-old child who had been gathering flowers on Culver cliff, near Sandown, Isle of Wight, who slipped and fell 200 feet. She was only slightly injured, a bottle which she carried being unbroken.

Glories of Ancient Buildings.

The famous Temple of Diana, at Ephesus, was 420 feet to the support of the roof; it was a hundred years in building. The largest of the Pyramids is 481 feet in height and 835 feet on the side. The base covered 11 acres. The stones are about 60 feet in length, and the layers are 208. It employed 350,000 men in building. The labyrinth of Egypt contains 330 chambers and 12 halls. Thebes, in Egypt, presents ruins 27 miles around, and contained 350,000 citizens and 400,000 slaves. The Temple of Delphos was so rich in donations that it was plundered of $50,000,000, and the Emperor Nero carried away from it 200 statues. The walls of ancient Rome were 13 miles around.

Dog Caused Boy's Death.

A boy was drowned by a dog he had on a leash jumping into the water and dragging him and his brother, walking with him, after it. The boys and a companion were walking along the towing path of the canal, at Rochdale, Lancashire, England, and had passed the lock, before the accident happened. An alarm was at once raised, and one of the brothers was speedily rescued by some boys who were playing near. An elder brother of the boys came on the scene and plunged into the canal. He succeeded in finding the other body, but artificial respiration proved unavailing.

Unearth Bones of Roman Soldiers.

The discovery has been announced from Rome, Italy, of a large ossuary, or place for the deposit of the bones of the dead, near the port of Telamon. The discovery is on the scene of the battle of Telamon, fought in the year 225 B. C., during the invasion of Italy by the Gauls, when the invading hordes were defeated by the Romans. The ruins of a Temple of Thanksgiving, erected by the Romans in memory of this victory, were unearthed in 1892. Further important discoveries are expected as a result of the present excavations.

"Let Jane Do It."

"Let Jane do it" is the new law in California since women got the vote. "Nowadays," says Miss Helen Todd of San Francisco, "when a man is approached by political slave drivers, who ask him to serve on all kinds of tiresome committees, he just says: 'Well, I'm too busy, boys; just ask my wife—she knows more about it than I do, anyway.'—From 'Below the Rio Grande.'"

Hickory in Danger.

Entomologists declare the hickory to be in danger of extermination. There is, it seems, a bark beetle which is working widespread destruction. The bark beetle should be sought out and ruthlessly slain.

The hickory is an aristocratic tree. It is gaunt, but sturdy. It looks like Uncle Sam. There is something essentially and typically American about the hickory. Its shaggy homeliness is a delight. The nut it bears is a delight, too. The tree is not like the "spreading chestnut," affluent in verdure and generous in shade. It is, rather, spare and utilitarian. And the hickory nut is far more admirable than the chestnut, and far more American. It is a hard nut to crack, but after the shell has once been removed, it is found to be very desirable.

Then, too, there is the hickory bark for building fires with. In the winter, when a cheery fire in the woods is most worth striving for, the crackling of the hickory bark is the cheeriest thing imaginable, and its fragrance is beyond description delightful.

Life That Is Real.

Life is too great for us or too petty. It gives us no tolerable middle way between baseness and greatness. We must die daily on the levels of ignoble compromise, or perish tragically among the precipices. On the one hand is a life—unsatisfying and secure, on a plane of dulled gratifications, mean advantages, petty triumphs, adaptations, acquiescences, and submissions, and on the other a steep and terrible climb, set with sharp stones and bramble thickets, and the possibilities of grotesque dislocations, and the snares of such temptation as comes only to those whose minds have been quickened by high desire, and the challenge of insoluble problems and the intimate-ness of issues so complex and great, demanding such a nobility of purpose, alertness, and openness of mind that they fill the heart of man with despair.

Thoughtful Child.

A dear little girl was most anxious for a certain treasure which her parents were not ready to give her. A sympathetic aunt, knowing that mamma always heard the little one say her prayers, advised the child to pray for the longed-for article. Later she inquired about results and found that nothing had happened so far. "How many times did you pray for it?" she asked. "Oh, twice," said the child, shyly. "But you must keep on praying, honey. Don't you know that when you want a thing you must pray for it over and over until it comes?" "Well, you see," the little girl explained, blushing, "I didn't want to worry God about my wishes. I thought he knew what I wanted, even without telling, and it didn't seem p'lite to keep on asking every day."

Fourteen in a Bed.

Hospitals are so plentiful and so efficient nowadays that we are apt to forget how we have advanced since the "bad old times." An account is given in the 'hospital' of the work done by the Hotel Dieu in Paris a century or two ago. The herding together of patients was a marked feature, and, though the beds were big, it is startling to read of twelve or even fourteen being placed in one. Up to the seventeenth century four-posters were in common use, and the brilliant idea that the convalescents might be provided for on the solid canopies was duly carried into effect. The patients mounted by ladders. It is stated that in 1592 no fewer than 63,000 persons died of plague in the Hotel Dieu alone!

Settling an Argument.

The "queer ideas" for which children are famous nearly always are based upon some half-heard, half-understood adult saying or conception. Willie, for example, comes from Boston and does not always find it easy to discover common meeting ground with the Chicago lads of his own age. Not long since Willie had a visitor and his mother, in the course of the afternoon, was horrified to hear sounds of battle coming from the room where the boys were at play. "What on earth is the matter, children?" she cried, rushing in upon them. "We're fightin'" said the Chicago youngster. "We're having an argument," was the Boston boy's gentler version. "But what about?" asked the host's mother. "Aw, 'bout tempests," her disheveled son informed her. "I say it was God made 'em, an' Tommy, here, says it was Shakespeare. So we fit."

England Takes to "Ragtime." England is taking to "ragtime" as though it were a new brand of patriotism or a new type of fear of Germany. Among the songs which are reported to be popular are "Crabs Crawl," "Spooks Parade," "Turkey Trot," "Top Dog," "Ma Gum-Elastic Girl," "Merry Monkeys," "Pumpkin Coon," "Gin and Buttons" and "She Had Her Spots On." If a nation is not in danger of imbecility that accepts music with such titles as these, it need have no fears for the future. It has a stomach for anything.

BAR ASSOCIATION UPHOLDS WILSON

Montreal Convention Indorses President's Actions in Mexican Situation.

TAFT IS CHIEF SPEAKER

Advocates Greater Independence of Judiciary—Vote Peace Celebration Between U. S. and Britain—Many Committees Report.

Montreal, Que., Sept. 3.—President Wilson of the United States, an ex-president, and a former candidate for the presidency figured by name or by actual presence in the proceedings of the American Bar association's annual convention.

The association adopted a resolution indorsing President Wilson's action in regard to Mexico; ex-President Taft addressed the members last night, advocating greater independence of the judiciary. Judge Alton B. Parker, Democratic candidate for president in 1904, proposed the resolution, unanimously adopted, for the approval of the celebration of a century of peace between the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Taft's address, delivered at Royal Victoria college, was the event of the evening. His subject was "The Selection and Tenure of Judges." He returned to one of the issues of the campaign in which he was defeated for re-election as president of the United States, and advocated greater independence of the judiciary. He argued judges should be appointed instead of elected and they should hold office for life.

At its business session the association received and adopted reports from a score of standing and special committees.

Urges Character Inquiry. Clarence A. Lightner of the Michigan bar urged the need of more complete inquiry into the moral character of applicants for admission to the bar.

The comparative law bureau heard an address by its director, Governor Baldwin of Connecticut.

At the session of the bar association the committee on commercial law recommended an indorsement of the Pomerene bill on uniform bills of lading in interstate and foreign commerce and opposing any attempt to repeal the national bankruptcy act.

The committee on jurisprudence and law reform disapproved a resolution calling upon the association to condemn the use of the so-called "third degree" in criminal prosecutions. The committee also reported its opposition to a proposition to abolish the life tenure of federal judges, and declared its belief that the present method of selecting such judges by federal appointment was the best one.

FLYER TRIES LOOP AGAIN

Pegoud Repeats Performance in Monoplane.

Juvisy, France, Sept. 3.—Aviator
Pegoud, who defied the laws of gravitation by looping the loop, gave another exhibition here of the same feat in his Bleriot monoplane.

Before a commission of army officers belonging to the army aviation corps, he flew for half a mile with his acroplane turned upside down and with his head hanging downwards.

M. Bleriot declared the performance meant to demonstrate that the monoplane will not capsize.

Brisbane, Australia, Sept. 3.—A re-

Henry Warner, a middle aged mineralogist of German-American descent, was recently killed and his body eaten by Papuan cannibals. Warner, with two native companions, had ventured into an unexplored region of New Guinea in search of radium when they were attacked by savages. Warner's companions escaped.
